Quality Standards A broad category of standards for ensuring that processes, products and services conform to specifications. At the top level, quality standards provide a system for managing quality against which an organization can be certified. For example, the International Organization for Standardization 9000:2000 series and the Capability Maturity Model Integration series of standards.

Guidelines are recommendations to users when specific standards do not apply. Guidelines are designed to streamline certain processes according to what the best practices are. Guidelines, by nature, should open to interpretation and do not need to be followed to the letter. Are more general vs. specific rules. Provide flexibility for unforeseen circumstances. Should NOT be confused with formal policy statements. Final Thoughts
