The Reformation was a split in the Latin Christian church instigated by Luther in 1517 and evolved by many others over the next decade—a campaign that created and introduced a new approach to Christian faith called 'Protestantism.' This split has never been healed and doesn't look likely to, but don't think of the church as divided between older Catholics and new Protestantism, because there is a huge range of Protestant ideas and offshoots.

Required text for class. This was a well informative book on the varying Christian religions during The Reformation in Europe. The book also focuses on primary sources, which is nice. It transports the reader into the thinking that was considered "radical" at the time. It also displays diverse ideas.

The European Reformations Sourcebook by Carter Lindberg

The Reformation became the basis for the founding of Protestantism, one of the three major branches of Christianity. The Reformation led to the reformulation of certain basic tenets of Christian belief and resulted in the division of Western Christendom between Roman Catholicism and the new Protestant traditions. The spread of Protestantism in areas that had previously been Roman Catholic had far-reaching political, economic, and social effects.

Reformation | History, Summary, & Reformers | Britannica

In the first place, on the eve of reformation the church suffered from numerous evil practices which greatly undermined the reputation of the church and the churchmen. The entire organization of the church right from Pope down to the priest were corrupt and vicious. They neglected their dioceses and took keen interest in politics.

What are the Causes of Reformation in Europe?

The Reformation (alternatively named the Protestant Reformation or the European Reformation) was a major movement within Western Christianity in 16th-century Europe that posed a religious and political challenge to the Catholic Church and in particular to papal authority, arising from what were perceived to be errors, abuses, and discrepancies by the Catholic Church.
