When you buy a lottery ticket, one of the most common pieces of advice given is to sign the ticket as a way to confirm ownership. Most lottery organisers will do their best to try and confirm the real owner of a ticket and will be able to tell the time and date a ticket was purchased as well as the outlet it was bought in.

Seventeen year old Jason Breezey lost his mother when he was eight. Now, he loses his father just months before graduating high school. But unknown to him, his father may have purchased the winning ticket to the largest undivided jackpot in lottery history just days before his death. Unfortunately for Jason, Martin Chesterfield, The CEO of the firm his father worked for, finds out about the winning ticket. Fueled by greed and power, Martin will stop at nothing to find the ticket and claim the historic prize for himself. Before long, others join in the hunt for the mysterious ticket, a hunt that leaves everyone's life hanging in the balance. In this mystery/thriller, loyalties are tested, alliances become fluid and scruples are put to the test for everyone. Only one thing remains certain... everyone is set on being the one to find The Lottery Ticket.

The year is 2035. The story is about love and survival. Christine Conder, by her own actions, yet against her will, is a contestant in the most serious lottery game ever played. Money generated by this new lottery supports the advancement of government programs throughout America, and millions of people, young and old, are buying tickets for a chance to enter The Hunt for Money. Signs flash along freeways and in downtown parking lots: "The Hunt for Money-$493,940,076-Enter to Win-Hunt for Money!" And the dollar amount changes daily. It is a desperate time in America. If you win a chance to hunt in this lottery, you may become rich, or you may lose your life. There is a difference in belief between two sisters. One believes in God, that we must return to those values, the other does not. Yet they love unconditionally, and that bond grows stronger during Christine's struggle to survive. Christine's life is set on a collision course that will test her in the face of unimaginable odds.

In a gripping thriller with a hint of Oliver Twist, a street kid and his dog are chasing an unlikely fortune — and dodging the thugs who would steal it. Twelve-year-old Bully has lost his mum and his old life. Living rough on the streets of London with his dog, Jack, he can't imagine a future. But one day he finds, tucked inside his most cherished possession—the last birthday card his mother ever gave him—a lottery ticket he bought her. And it's a winner. A big winner. Suddenly there's hope, if only he can get to his prize on time! But just as Bully's prospects open up, peril closes in. Now ruthless gangsters are in hot pursuit, and everyone wants a piece of him. Whom can he trust to help him retrieve what's his? And even if Bully does claim all that money, will he really be winning what he needs most? Michael Byrne's thrill-packed debut delivers the emotionally charged story of a boy whose luck has changed for the better, if only he can survive long enough to claim it.

Hulda Hansen awaits the return of her betrothed, Ole Kamp, who promised her great fortune after his voyage aboard the fishing boat, Viking. When the Viking fails to return and is feared lost, a bottle is found with a note for Hulda and a lottery ticket, numbered 9672. News of the tragedy spreads, along with Hulda's possible riches from the lottery ticket, whose drawing day grows near. Includes a new introduction by literary scholar Darrell Schweitzer.
